Accident to a Soldier.

On Sunday, private John Kendall, of company E., nineteenth Indiana regiment, was shot through the hand by the discharge of a comrade's platel. He was brought to the city, and while in the house of a friend yesterday morning, during a temporary absence of mind, he thrust his head through a window, outling an atery in his neck. He was placed in the E street hospital yesterday afternoof.

A Suggestion.

Ma. Entron: Will you be so kind as to suggest to the proprietors of the Navy Yard line of omnibuses the policy of extending their r. ute to some point on Massachusetts avenue, near Twelfth street? The rapid increase of the population in that neighborhood, the beauty of the ride, the great number of persons at and beyond that vicinity doing business in the fifth and sixth wards, and the great number of soldiers encamped but a comparatively short distance beyond that point, are considerations which, we doubt not, will weight heavily with the enterprising proprietors of that line in favor of the extension.

Two or three days since, she found that he was in the camp of the sixth Pennsylvania rogiment. On applying for him, she was told that she could obtain him by papers properly certified. She went to Reckville and got the proper decuments, and reclaimed her servant, the colonel granting a file of men to escort him two miles beyond the lines on his homeward way.

The faculty of the National Medical College have leased the building on E street, between Eventh and Twelfth streets, known as the Constitution Office," and are now engaged in having it renovated and fitted up preparatory to the communicament of the lectures, which will take place on the 21st instant.

A few days since, the mechanics employed in the engineers' department at the navy yard, presented to their follow-mechanic, Mr. M. P. Fisher, who is now a fleutement in the District regiment, a splendid silver-mounted Cob's revolver and a gold-mounted regulation sword, as an evidence of the esteem in which he is held by them. The presentation was made privately, through a committee, to whom L'ent. Fisher briefly and appropriately responded.

The Contempt Case.

Brigadier General Graham appeared before Judge Merrick yesterday morning, and asked a postponement of a hearing in his case, to give him time to consult counsel. He is charged with contempt of court, in detaining the minor, Jeremich Lyons, in the camp of the twenty-third Pennsylvania regiment after the court ordered his release. The case was postponed antil noon to day.

Explosion.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon, as one of the batteries of the Pennsylvania Campbell attitlery regiment was passing the Executive Massim, on their return from the review, a shell or cartridge in the annunition chest on the tumbel of one of the guns, exploded with a deafening report, throwing the three men who were seated thereon some distance from the gun.

The men who were thrown of fortunately excaped serious injury, one being badly braised, one having his head out, and the other spraining his wrist. They were immediately placed in an ambulance and taken to one of the Georgabown hospitals.

The contents of the chast—shot, shell, and partridge, were thrown some distance around the place, and the back of it was completely blown into splinters, while, strange to say, the top remained whole, it hoing lifted only from its place.

The cause of the explosion is still in doubt, some contending that it was a James's patent shell, which is well known to be one of the most easily declarged shells in existence, while others are of opinion it was caused by the friction of some losse caps.

They report that there are about five thousand troops in Bichmond, and that the rebel army on the Potennae is supposed to number over a hundred and fifty thousand men, and that apprehensions of attacks on the scabenro cause the greatest anxiety. Powerful batteries have been erected along James river, in anticipation of an advance of the Federal army in that direction.

The armanent has been removed from the steamer Jamestown.
The prisoners did not see the steamer Yorktown, having probably passed her during the night.

Upon the conclusion of the address, a beautiful flag was run up from each end of the building, which, gently wasted by the breeze as they accended, expanded in beautiful style, and were received with hearty cheers and the waving of handkerchiefs from the throng below. The crowd then dispersed, all evidently much please of with the incidents of the evening.

These flags were obtained through the contributions of the employees in the various departments of this office, and are both large and beautiful. One of them doats directly over the office of the Superintendent, in compliment to that gentleman.
